

When You're Around

By Danny Schwarze

A summer's day, the wind blows your hair
We walk along with nary a care
The sparkling water, the sun shining down
Life is good when you are around

The golden glow of autumn twilight
We walk together towards fast-falling night
Crunch the leaves as they fall to the ground
Life is good when you are around

All of these moments that build up to hours and days
Time with each other and memories tucked away
Over and over, no two days the same
Walking together through sunshine and through rain

A winter's night, the moon shining bright
Glistening off the blankets of white
Frozen feet as we trudge through the mounds
Life is good when you are around

All of these moments that build up to hours and days
Time with each other and memories tucked away
Over and over, no two days the same
But I'll walk with you again and again and again

A springtime morn, we're lying in bed
The sun shines in and falls on your head
And I just can't believe what I've found
Life is good when you are around
